This includes advice with regards to education systems and teacher education systems in (existing and future) IFA member countries, and how courses and resources could be integrated into the curricula of schools and universities;
 - b. Identify learning needs among key stakeholders (i.e. teachers, educators, students), respectively sub-stakeholder groups, and inform the Academy Committee of these needs;
 - c. Identify learning courses and/or resources that would add value to the Academy core curricula and/or learning menu;
 - d. Draft and review new learning materials, i.e. courses and resources for the Academy (i. e. quality control);
